THE Tennessee State Grange meets at Manchester on the 16th of August.

Miss Augusta Tovell, for several years past an acceptable teacher in the public schools, and more recently principal of the Linden street school, is understood to be a candidate for the position of Superintendent of city public schools. She is well known to the leading educators of Tennessee as one of the best teachers in the State. At present she is teaching in the State Normal School, held at the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville, where her merits are known and she is held in high esteem. It is quite likely that she will receive a hearty support when the election comes on. It will be simply a question of merit and executive ability, and not of sex. Other things being equal, there is no reason why a woman should not be elected to such a place as the same as a man. The field is open, and any competent person has a right to be a candidate.

Mr. S. L. Ferrell, a few miles from the city, sent a fine cotton bloom to Messrs. Pearce, Suggs & Pettit to-day with the statement that it was raised by a colored Readjuster on his place who is willing to vote for 50-4 and no more. This is the first bloom as far as known from the Sixth Civil District this year.

How They Took.

The reception of the Chicks and other companies at Louisville Monday evening last, after getting off the train, is thus described by the Courier-Journal of yesterday:
The "Chicks" formed in line first, and marched off headed by their band, and followed closely by the Quapaws. When they reached Broadway, the Legion presented arms and the Chicks passed them and formed in line above, the Quapaws doing likewise. The Legion then passed them, they in turn presenting arms, and the whole procession marched off in the following order: Mounted police, Schneider's Orchestra, Louisville Legion, Memphis Orchestra, Chickasaw Guards, the Quapaw Guards bringing up the rear. The procession marched up Broadway to Seventh, in Seventh to Main, and up Main to the Galt House. As the troops passed the Louisville Hotel a large number of the Porter Rifles were standing on the street, closely watching the movements of their competitors, and were so favorably impressed that they could not resist waving their caps and giving them three hearty cheers, which the lines acknowledged by presenting arms. As they proceeded up the street every window and every door was crowded, and they were everywhere received with cheers. When the Galt House was reached the Legion and the Quapaws formed on either side and presented arms, as the Chickasaws entered the hotel, which being done, the Legion escorted the Quapaws to the Louisville Hotel, where they will be quartered. The Crescent Rifles arrived a short time afterwards, but by a curious and inexcusable blunder they were not met at the train, as they should have been, and escorted to their hotel. They, however, met with a cordial reception by many friends and citizens along the route, and it was evident that they had scores of admirers in the city. They presented a handsome appearance, though much fatigued by their thirty hours' ride.

How the Captains Talk.

Courier Journal of Tuesday.
Captain Carnes, of the Chickasaw Guards, remarked that his company was never in better trim. "They have been drilling hard for several weeks, and have gotten the manual down perfectly. I feel confident that they can and will win. I do not think that any company can do them. If they should happen to be beaten, however, the company that does it will be entitled to the championship, and no one will cheer louder for them than the Chickasaw Guards."
Captain Harry Allen, of the Crescent Rifles, expressed himself in much the same manner, and stated that his company was in fine trim and well practiced, and the company that beats them would have to work for it.
Captain John Waters, of the Quapaw Guards, remarked that, although his company was composed of rather young men, they were almost perfect in the art, and he had confidence enough in them to state that it would work any company entered to beat them.
Captain George Reyer, of the Porter Rifles, knew what his company could do, and thought they could beat anything in the South and would certainly carry off first prize, and that another ribbon of victory would accompany the many others that hung on their flag staff.

Taking all these views into consideration, and also the fact that the people from the different cities are backing their companies strong to win, things look interesting, and, as a well posted military man stated yesterday, it will be the closest, most exciting and warmest drill that ever took place in Kentucky or the South.

The Chief of the Bolters.

Nashville World.
Mr. Bailey has been freely spoken of as the candidate of the oligarchy for Governor. We believe that those who have circulated the rumor are grossly mistaken. Mr. Bailey cannot honorably allow his name to be used in that connection.

Five years ago Mr. Bailey and Gen. Bate were presented to the Legislature as candidates for the United States Senate. On the first ballot Gen. Bate got thirty-four votes and Mr. Bailey twenty-four, the remainder being scattered. After long and tedious balloting, Gen. Bate withdrew his name. Neither he nor his friends bolted. His friends voted for Mr. Bailey and elected him.

General Bate is now the nominee of the party to which they both profess allegiance. Personal honor and party fidelity both claim that Mr. Bailey shall support Mr. Bate. We have known Mr. Bailey long and have esteemed him highly. His official conduct in high places has not always been such as we had hoped for, and his recent action and utterances have not sustained the "pride of other days." But we can't believe he has "lost all his original brightness" so he will close a life of honor by an act of patriotic ingratitude to the friends and party that have promoted and cherished him.

It is said that there is but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous. But an ex-Supreme Judge and ex-United States Senator at the back of a bolting hand full bringing up the rear in a four-handed race for Governor would be a success in ground and lofty tumbling never surpassed in Barnum's hippodrome.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Exciting Political Canvass—Damage by Rains and Storms.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—A Victoria, B. C., dispatch says the whole country is now absorbed in a political contest. The Dominion and Provincial elections take place in a few days, and the candidates and their friends are scouring the Districts and working the people up to fever heat. The Fraser river has fallen ten feet, and farmers are beginning to foot up their losses. In fences alone it is thought $100,000 have been lost, and the destruction of crops, farm buildings, stock, implements, bridges and roads will sum up at least $400,000 more. The railroad track and bridges were destroyed or carried away, wagon roads submerged and cribbing washed away.

Doubtless a Republican Trick.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 28.—Last night thieves entered the rooms of the Erie delegation to the Democratic convention and relieved them of their watches and money.

The Pennsylvania Democracy.

HARRISBURG, June 28.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order by Chairman Bogert, and the roll of delegates was called and several contests announced. The name of Senator Cox was greeted with rounds of applause. Malcom Hay, of Allegheny was unanimously elected Temporary Chairman, and in a short address returned thanks for the honor conferred. The various committees were then appointed.

Coroner's Verdict.

ST. PAUL, June 28.—A special from Wilmar to the Pioneer Press says: A Coroner's verdict on the victims of the late railroad accident, rendered to-night, declares that the wreck and death of said persons was caused by the reckless manner in which the train was run, and that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad Company have been negligent in not establishing any rate of speed for gravel trains; and further, in not making it incumbent on the conductor and engineer of gravel train to take proper precautions in regard to checking the speed of such trains in going down grade.

Prohibition in Iowa.

DES MOINES, June 27.—Midnight.—At this hour 499 townships have been heard from, and give a majority for the amendment of 34,410, and a majority of 10,312 against. The net majority for in these townships is 24,098. They constitute a little over one-fourth of the State. These returns indicate a majority for of 50,000, and perhaps more. The Temperance State Committee claims a majority of 60,000. All the large cities in the State, except Des Moines, give strong majorities against. This city gives 1271 majority for it, and the county it is in will give over 2500 majority for. The counties without large cities or towns almost invariably give strong majorities for. The river towns and cities give the principal majorities against, the city of Davenport giving nearly 2000 majority against, and Scott county gives probably over 3000 majority against. The temperance people here are very jubilant, and at this hour the church bells in the city are being rung in celebration of the victory. Hamilton county gives 600 majority, Lucas county 975, Guthrie county 850 and Washington county 450, all for the amendment.

Des Moines, June 28—2 a.m.

Up to this hour returns are received from 647 townships, which give the amendment a net majority of 24,268. This includes the returns from all the large cities in the State, except Sioux City. The majority in the State for the amendment will probably be not less than 40,000. The city of Dubuque gives 3441 majority against; the county of Dubuque is estimated at 5000 against; the city of Burlington, 1567 against, and the city of Cedar Rapids 317 for.

Burlington, June 28.—Four hundred and ten precincts give upwards of 2500 majority against the amendment. The State is in doubt, with a fair chance of defeating the amendment.

YELLOW FEVER.

Spread of the Disease Not Expected.

Special to the Courier-Journal.
NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—The first case of yellow fever that has occurred here this season declared itself to-day. The patient, whose name is Daniel Forbes, an Englishman, twenty years old, arrived in the city on the 20th on the steamship Malta Aurelio, in ballast from Havana, which port he left June 11. He arrived in Havana from Montevideo a few days before the Aurelio sailed, and is supposed to have brought the germs of the disease with him from the latter port, as the vessel which conveyed him from Montevideo was forty days at quarantine on the 14th and was detained there three days and thoroughly fumigated. Forbes reached the city on Sunday, June 18, and took quarters at a sailors' boardinghouse on the levee. On Tuesday he shipped on the steamship Commander, and while at work on her Thursday last was taken sick and returned to his boardinghouse. Growing worse he was conveyed to the Charity Hospital on Sunday and placed in an isolated ward. This morning the disease was sufficiently pronounced to enable the consulting physicians to declare it a case of genuine yellow fever. The patient is not expected to live until morning. Forbes' boardinghouse and the Marine Hospital have been thoroughly disinfected to-day, and other measures taken to prevent any spread of the disease. Fortunately all the inmates of the boardinghouse were vaccinated, and no danger is apprehended from that source. Dr. Jones, President of the Board of Health, is satisfied that the case will not create a focus of the disease, as every precaution has been taken to prevent infection, and none but acclimated persons have been permitted to approach the man. His view is shared by other eminent sanitarians, including the officers of the National Board of Health.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

LONDON, June 28.—Lord Chisham is dead.

The Duke of Edinburgh narrowly escaped drowning while fishing at Bayona, Spain. He was four times carried under, and was an hour struggling to reach the shore.

Dispatches from Alexandria say the proposed departure of Sien Kiewig and Sir Edward Malet revives the panic, and the distress among the natives is increasing. It is reported that France will co-operate with England in armed intervention. If necessary, France will send 10,000 men.

The steamer Statley, which leaves Woolwich for Malta Friday, will take field hospitals, cavalry equipments, submarine mines and portions of a portable railway.

It is understood that the two militia regiments of the London district will not be dismissed after training, but be retained for the garrison, in view of the possibility of two battalions of guards being sent to the Mediterranean.

ROME, June 28.—It is stated that the Admiral commanding the Italian fleet has been ordered to cruise within easy distance of Alexandria, so he can be promptly summoned in case of necessity.

ALEXANDRIA, June 28.—There are now thirty-two men-of-war in the harbor of Alexandria and more expected.

PARIS, June 28.—England is now the only power resolutely opposed to the arrangement with Arabi Pasha.

Price Fight.

GREENSBORO, PA., June 28.—Campbell won the prize fight in thirty rounds—time, thirty-one minutes. The battle ground was seven and a half miles from here. Walling broke his right hand in the third round, and the little finger of the left hand in the thirty-first.

Lynched His Pal.

CHICAGO, June 28.—A special from Raton, Mexico, reports that after Gus Mentzel, the sanguinary gambler, had been lynched, as previously reported, the crowd took his pal, C. D. R. Bradley, and hanged him.

The Famine in Virginia.

CHICAGO, June 28.—A special from Danville, Virginia, says: A number of persons are suffering for food. In Patrick county there are five to six thousand; nearly one half of the population. Corn and other provisions are exhausted, and there are not five bushels of grain in the hands of any one except the distributing committee. The harvest soon commences, and relief will come with it.
